onCampus publishes 27,000 issues 22 times a year, 23,200 of which are delivered directly through campus mail every other Thursday to all 18,600 full- and part-time faculty/staff and 4,600 select graduate students on the Columbus campus. Another 2,500 issues are distributed in the lobbies of 30 major buildings and area businesses, and 1,300 issues are mailed to OSU's five regional campus sites.

According to the scientific OSU Poll, readership of onCampus by faculty/staff is 86 percent. That includes the number who always, usually or sometimes read the newspaper.

More than 40 percent of our readers hold onto the newspaper for at least 10 days.

More than 57 percent of our faculty/staff live in the University area and northwest portion of Columbus. These areas include Upper Arlington, Grandview/Marble Cliff, University District, Short North/Victorian Village, Clintonville/Beechwold, Hilliard, Worthington, Dublin and Powell.

Five percent of OSU faculty/staff on the Columbus campus earn more than $100,000 a year; 32 percent earn more than $50,000 a year; and 72 percent earn more than $30,000 a year.

60 percent of our readers have earned at least a bachelor’s degree; 36 percent have a master’s degree; and 24 percent possess a doctorate or advanced professional degree (law, medicine, dentistry and veterinary medicine).

58 percent of OSU’s faculty/staff are married. Their average age is 43.
